Mr. Antonio Guterres
Secretary-General
United Nations

Dear Mr. Secretary-General:

Nowadays, human beings are facing a variety of crises, which can be divided into two categories. The first includes various realistic crises which already threaten the sustainable development of mankind, such as geopolitical conflicts, abnormal climate change, the widening gap between rich and poor, depletion of natural resources, the eco-environmental crisis, the abuse of Technology (such as uncontrolled innovation and applications of AI, Nano- and Bio-technologies), escalating regional wars and violence,

We hope the creation of this UN Office by offering a UN General Assembly Resolution to study the feasibility of such a UN Office as soon as possible.

Sincerely,

Signed by
